

The Hancock County Community Foundation steps into its fourth decade as an organization recognized not only for its responsible stewardship of assets and deployment of impactful grants and scholarships, but as a community leader tasked with engaging our community in visionary work.

To honor the bright future ahead, you will see some significant changes to the Community Foundation's appearance, name, and place.

New look: A new logo has been designed with the Community Foundation's mission and strategic direction in mind. We are pleased to introduce a logo that emphasizes the breadth of our work through five initiatives yet harkens back to "home" by the shape of its center. You will also note the depiction of outreach to and engagement of the people of our community...some of whom we have yet to meet.

New Name: Our organization is rearranging its name! Rather than the Hancock County Community Foundation, we start our 31st year as the Community Foundation of Hancock County. There are several reasons for doing this. Besides the obvious emphasis on "community," which equates to people and connectedness, it allows us to better distinguish our identity from that of the many entities that begin their names with "Hancock County." You will find that there is only one Community Foundation in Hancock County!

New Website: Starting in January, giveHCgrowHC.org transitions to CelebrateHancock.org. With the domain name change comes email address changes. By the end of January, you will experience a new, more navigable website.

New Home: In 2023, the Community Foundation of Hancock County will make its home at 971 W. US 40, three miles west of our current location. Stay tuned for special opportunities to see our beautiful, newly-renovated space!
